Important Review Note

We would like to highlight that all the issues listed above have already been addressed and resolved in the latest version of the website.

It has been observed that the feedback being shared repeatedly appears to be based on older screenshots/images from the previous version rather than the current updated deployment.

We kindly request you to review the latest live website, as the previously reported concerns are no longer present.

Continuing to reference outdated visuals may unintentionally create confusion and result in the repetition of items that have already been completed.

We sincerely appreciate your time and feedback, and we encourage evaluation based on the most recent version to ensure accuracy and alignment.
